

Sarah Deslauriers has a Bachelors and Masters degree in Atmospheric, Oceanic, and Space Science, as well as a Masters degree in Environmental Engineering from the University of Michigan – Ann Arbor. Sarah is Carollo's Climate Services lead and as part of that role serves as program manager for California Wastewater Climate Change Group in implementing their vision to be the recognized providers of education, leadership, and advocacy for the California wastewater community.